Jacquie, as we discussed yesterday, the LaSalle County tank, based on best available information, is in the wrong location on the map. Mike had a conversation with the person who pressure tested the tank, Dan McFadden, who identified the location as across the street from the Hoxsey station. The location would have been north of the UST / Storm Sewer identified on the map to be on the east side of 2153 and north of 3462nd. Mike forwarded this information to Steve yesterday and intends to discuss with him today as well. I will send you the email Mike sent Steve. This should be corrected. Thanks. Mark
